

Comet (feat. Tom Scharpling)

Steven Universe

Some say I have no direction, that I'm a light speed distraction. That's a knee jerk reaction. Still, this is the final frontier. Everything is so clear. To my destiny I steer. This life and the stars is all I've ever know.

Stars and stardust in infinite space is my only home. But the moment that I hit the stage, thousands of voices are calling my name.

And I know in my heart it's been worth it all of the while.

And as my albums fly off of the shelves, handing out autographed pics of myself. This life I've chose isn't easy but sure is one heck of a ride. At the moment that I hit the stage, I hear the universe calling my name.

And I know deep down in my heart I have nothing to fear.

And as the solar wind flows through my hair, knowing I have so much more left to share. A wandering spirit who's tearing its way through the cold atmosphere. I'll fly like a comet. Soar like a comet. Crash like a comet.

I'm just a comet.
