

Louisiana Lady

Laine Hardy

Blue as the water,
Bright as the sky,
Deep as the river, I get lost in those eyes.
Just like the sun rising,
The stars in the night,
She shines through the dark and lights up my life. Magnolias blooming in the soft southern breeze,
That bayou moon coming up over the trees,
Cypress wind singing a sweet melody,
My Louisiana lady next to me.
The sound of her laughter,
The way that she smiles,
The touch of a woman,
With the heart of a child.
When we're together,
everything's all right,
My arms around her, wrapped up in the night. Magnolias blooming in the soft southern breeze,
That bayou moon coming up over the tree—ees
Cypress wind singing a sweet melody
My Louisiana lady next to me
Magnolias blooming in the soft southern breeze
That bayou moon coming up over those trees
Cypress wind singing a sweet melody
My Louisiana lady
My Louisiana lady
My Louisiana lady
Next to me whoa aaa
Next to me whoa
