

Cool Anymore (feat. Julia Michaels)

Jordan Davis

So hold your head up, work the room
Smile like you ain't nervous
And be the life of every party with all your friends
Laugh it off, roll your eyes, when they tell you that you're perfect
Yeah you can be that with all of them
But you don't have to be cool anymore
Show me the side that nobody else knows
Drop that act with your keys at the door
Lose the mirrors, I see through the smoke
Save all that for the rest of the world
Come on let me love you girl
And don't you know that I'm already yours
You don't have to be cool anymore
Cool anymore
Puff your chest, crack a drink with your boys like you like to
And you internalize everything that's wrong, Yeah
But I know you and I know when we go home
You're slow dancing in the kitchen with me all night long
I know you and I know when we're alone
You'll hold me better up, better than anyone
You don't have to be cool anymore
Show me the side that nobody else knows
Drop that act with your keys at the door
Lose the mirrors, I see through the smoke
Save all that for the rest of the world
Come on let me love you girl
And don't you know that I'm already yours
You don't have to be cool anymore
Cool anymore
You can be anything to anyone
When the curtains close and the day is done
It's just us in the dark
Baby, just be who you are
You don't have to be cool anymore
Show me the side that nobody else knows
Drop that act with your keys at the door
Lose the mirrors, I see through the smoke
Save all that for the rest of the world
Come on let me love you girl
And don't you know that I'm already yours
You don't have to be cool anymore
Cool anymore
You don't gotta be, you don't gotta be (cool anymore)
(Oh, cool anymore)
You don't gotta be, you don't gotta be
You don't gotta be, you don't gotta be
Cool anymore
You don't gotta be cool anymore
