

The Perfect Way to Fall Apart

Hawthorne Heights

The moon is full, the air is cold
As I sit here on this rooftop all alone
I pay no mind to what they say
It makes no difference anyway You won't be gone, I can't let go
I made things harder, yes I know
The perfect way to fall apart Standing with one foot in the fire
I think I've come to the end
But it's been so long
It's been so long
Walking with this heavy heart
I got too close to the edge
But it's been so long
It's been so long
And all things considered, I still hope I see you there
The daylight dies, the moonlight shines
As I sit here watching reflections of your eyes
The past is gone, I know I'm wrong
You knew we'd end this all along You won't be gone, I can't let go
I made things harder, yes I know
The perfect way to fall apart Standing with one foot in the fire
I think I've come to the end
But it's been so long
It's been so long
Walking with this heavy heart
I got too close to the edge
But it's been so long
It's been so long
And all things considered, I still hope I see you there
The perfect way to fall apart
I think I've come to the edge
The perfect way to fall apart
I came too close to the edge Standing with one foot in the fire
I think I've come to the end
But it's been so long
It's been so long
Walking with this heavy heart
I got too close to the edge
But it's been so long
It's been so long
And all things considered
I still hope I see you there
