

Empyreal

Sylosis

It's said the future's written in the skies

The stars align

Planets collide

Shadows inherit the Earth

Denounce this shallow faith

I have seen through the veil

I espouse this call to arms

Of the Empyreal paradigm

Preaching to all that breathes life

Fear the divine

Denounce this shallow faith

I have seen through the veil

I espouse this upheaval

As stones collide with ignorance

Burrow your feral words into the ground

The graves you've made will pull you down

Holy man keep your revelations to yourself

Deny all you are

Keep your blindfold out of spite

For all who lack direction need a guide

Beneath a sunken sky

We will reap what you've sewn

Bind your mouth

And drop your head down

As stone collide with ignorance

Burrow your feral words into the ground

The graves you've made will put you down
