

The Past (feat. Chris Daughtry)

Sevendust

Beneath the water
that's falling from my eyes lays a soul I've left behind the edge of sorrow was reached but now I'm fine I've filled the hole I had inside I'll pray it doesn't scream my name so I light a flame and let it breathe the air that kills the shame I'm up I'm down
like a rollercoaster racing through my life I've erased the past again a risky morning
I feel like I'm alive
I can't believe I've made it through this time the edge of sorrow I lived in for some time (lived in for some time) has left the hole I have inside The burden is I try my hate was the last thing I ever felt or thought I could escape I'm up I'm down
like a rollercoaster racing through my life I've erased the past again You let me in then broke me down the difference is this time around I will not let you see me try
I'm up
I'm down
like a rollercoaster racing through my life
I've erased the past again Erased the past again now Erased the past again Beneath the water that has fallen from my eyes

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songarea.com/>