

Rock 'n' Roll Delight

Hugo

You think you're leaving footprints
But it's craters that you're making
Try to spread the love 'round But it's names that you're taking It's crowded in your clutches and
The pressure's got me breaking Unwind, refill, prepare
For some of that rock and roll delight
Distilled, lay bare and it keeps me thinking
I'm your weekend lover on the side
So just put on the golden handcuffs
And let me walk you out of here
And how long can you linger
When you're living off of tears? And who could ever turn you down
When you turn on all of the lights in town? Unwind, refill, prepare
For some of that rock and roll delight
Distilled, lay bare and it keeps me thinking
I'm your weekend lover on the side, on the side And who could ever turn you down
When you turn on all of the lights in town?
Unwind, refill, prepare
For some of that rock and roll delight
Distilled, lay bare and it keeps me thinking
I'm your weekend lover on the side, on the side

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songarea.com/>