

Don't You

Darren Criss

Say, wasn't that a funny day?
Gee you had a funny way, a way about you
A kind of glow of something new Sure, I'll admit that I'm the same
Another sucker for a game kids like to play
And the rules they like to use Don't you want the way I feel?
Don't you want the way I feel?
Don't you want the way I feel for you? The sun telling me the night is done
Well I refuse to let it stop our fun
Close your eyes, we'll make it dark again And kiss, there's a thought so how 'bout this?
Let's pretend that both our lips are made of candy
After all we need sweets every now and then
Don't you want the way I feel?
Don't you want the way I feel?
Don't you want the way I feel for you? Well here we are two strangers in a very different place
Who knows what will happen to us next?
Here we are with nothing but this little spark
It's too cold outside to lay this fire to rest Go, how so very apropos
A goodbye just as soon as I said hello
Well, alright, I'll see you later It's true, it's just a fantasy for two
But what's the difference if it all could have been true?
I guess this is better Don't you want the way I feel?
Don't you want the way I feel?
Don't you want the way I feel for you?
Oh, don't you want the way I feel?
Don't you want the way I feel?
Don't you want the way I feel for you? Don't you want the way that I feel for you?
