

Hold You (feat. Kodaline)

Nina Nesbitt

You're far away tonight
Haven't seen you in a while
It always feels like a climb
On this never ending hill And I keep saying wait just one more day
But days slowly drift away
And I can hold to the memories
But they won't hold me in the same way
As you
And this distance between us
Has come and cut as clean as
A sharp blade
And this distance between us
Has made my heart as weak as
Silk that's frayed
And I just wanna hold you
Hold you, hold you now
You're the one that keeps me
Keeps me on the ground
And I just wanna hold you
Hold you, hold you now
Can we turn this knife the blunt way around? I feel empty and my eyes are closed
It's getting dark and I'm alone
And I sleep next to my window
In case you decide to come home
And I keep saying wait just one more day
But days slowly drift away
And memories I have begin to fade
Cause you're so far away This distance between us
Has come and cut as clean as
A sharp blade
And this distance between us
Has made my heart as weak as
Silk that's frayed
And I just wanna hold you
Hold you, hold you now
You're the one that keeps me
Keeps me on the ground
And I just wanna hold you
Hold you, hold you now
Can we turn this knife the blunt way around? And I can only stay
One more day
It's like waiting on the rain

In a warm summer days And this distance between us
Has come and cut as clean as
A sharp blade
And this distance between us
Has made my heart as weak as
Silk that's frayed
And I just wanna hold you
Hold you, hold you now
You're the one that keeps me
Keeps me on the ground
And I just wanna hold you
Hold you, hold you now
Can we turn this knife the blunt way around?
Now...

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songarea.com/>