

Mirage

Reckless Kelly

Lonesome and hungry I travel this land
Searching for some place called home
Faceless and nameless know only by fate
Destiny finds me no more should I roam
Tired and thirsty as I travel on
Dreaming of water and wine
Beside a green meadow I stop for it
Where gentle brook winds through the pines [Chorus]
Standing, I was blinded by Gods golden water
My savior was [unknown]
Hand, shifting sand from a pool full of promise
My oasis was just a mirage
Alone and exhausted I fall to my knees
I can't find the strength to go on Visions have show me the path as I sleep
And I found my way with the dawn [Chorus] Weaken by voices that whisper my name
How I'm alone in the night
How can a place so empty and cold
Be filled with such glorious light [Chorus: x 2]
Lonesome and hungry I travel this land
Searching for some place called home
Faceless and nameless know only by fate
Destiny finds me no more should I roam

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songarea.com/>