

The Cure

Unspoken

We're all related, brothers and strangers,
The king and the beggar bleed the same.
We've all got a sickness, a terminal condition,
We medicate it but the pain won't go away. See the eyes of a million faces,
Looking forward in a million places,
Only one can save us, Jesus. You are the cure!
Everybody's searching for it,
Everybody's reaching out,
Trying to grab a hold of something real.
You are the cure!
Only you can satisfy us,
Fill up the void inside us,
Never been a heart you couldn't heal.
You are the cure... You are the doctor, healer and father,
To the orphan without a home.
We feel in the darkness, lost till you found us,
You are the remedy we've been looking for. You are the cure!
Everybody's searching for it,
Everybody's reaching out,
Trying to grab a hold of something real.
You are the cure!
Only you can satisfy us,
Fill up the void inside us,
Never been a heart you couldn't heal. You are the cure... Cure for the broken, the hope for a hopeless world.
The meaning, the purpose, the peace that will make us whole.
Don't have to search no more.
Don't have to search no more. You are the cure!
Everybody's searching for it,
Everybody's reaching out,
Trying to grab a hold of something real.
You are the cure!
Only you can satisfy us,
Fill up the void inside us,
Never been a heart you couldn't heal. You are the cure... You are the cure, cure
Never been a heart you couldn't heal.
You are the cure, cure
Never been a heart you couldn't heal.
