Sunburn

Ed Sheeran

You're not her
Though I try to see you differently
I towed the line, you see
I'm searching for what used to be mine, oh
And I saw your eyes
And I saw Alice staring back at me
So I will try to find another oneWho's suited to me as well as her
I've moved far away from you
And I want to see you here beside me, dear
But things aren't clear
When we never even tried, we never even talked
We never even thought in the long run
Whenever it was painful, whenever I was away
I'd miss you and I miss you
She was mine, I was hers
And all that's in between
When she would cry, I would shelter her
And keep her from the darkness that will be
If I moved far away from you
And I want to see you here beside me, dear
But things aren't clear, whoaWhen we never even tried, we never even talked
We never even thought in the long run
Whenever it was painful, whenever I was away
I'd miss you and I'd miss you
Don't drop me in, it's not my time
If you cut deep then I might burn at you
Scar and left me like a sunburn
Don't drop me in, it's not my time
If you cut deep then I might burn at you
Scar and leave me like a sunburn
We never even tried, we never even talked
We never even thought in the long run
Whenever it was painful, whenever I was away
I'd miss you and I miss you
