

Halo

Lotte Kestner

We're down but we're all the same
We're holding on for dear life
We're down and we're all in pain
No, something doesn't feel right And now the world has changed
We struggle for the last time
We're fine but we're all against
'Cause we're holding on to fear tonight
I feel it as I crawl
I feel it from the floor
I feel it from the inside
We're down but we're all the same
We're holding on for dear life It's the lies you fed (and drove) as she hears you coughing
It's the pride you miss the most
So she lives in a fountain
And you feel her break a little more
As she's crying on the bathroom floor
It's the hardest thing you've known We're down but we're all the same
We're holding on for dear life
We're down and we're all in pain
No, something doesn't feel right
I feel it as I crawl
I feel it from the floor
I feel it from the inside We're down but we're all the same
We're holding on for dear life
It's the lies you fed (and drove) as she hears you coughing
It's the pride you miss the most,
So she lives in a fountain
And tonight you scream alone
As they hold the final hour. We're down but we're all the same
We're holding on for dear life
