

Rise of the Runaways

Crown the Empire

On trial for our fates
we are the runaways Outta place with mistakes we never made because all we are to anyone is just a runaway
So fate found a day to take it all away
Cut down and encased inside a cage
Because all we are
To anyone is just a runaway
Well if the waters so deep Then why are all of you still standing And if the sinner's asleep
Then how can I rattle his cage
I'm so sick of these dark days chasing me further under ground
But I'll find my way to light
And you'll find your own demise
We were not born the enemy and we will not stop for anything
So try to tell me all the things that I've done wrong
This fire will burn until we fall
(Run, run, running, I keep running, I keep on running away)
(Run, run, running, I keep running, I keep on running away)
Well how am I supposed to feel like everything will be okay
When you try to suffocate
What little is left of me
So fuck off you've dug your grave and I will be just fine Cuz I'll find my way to light It's always been here inside
But we were not born the enemy
and we will not stop for anything
So try to tell me all the things that I've done wrong
This fire will burn until we fall
So try to live with the things that you've done and try to take all the things that I've loved
You won't break me, I will rise above
This fire will burn until we fall
(Run, run, running, I keep running, I keep on running away)
(Run, run, running, I keep running, I keep on running away) (Run, run, running, I keep running, I keep on running away, I keep on running away)On trial for our fates
we are the runaways
Outta place with mistakes we never made

because all we are
to anyone is just a runaway
So fate found a day to take it all away
Cut down and encased inside a cage
Because all we are
is just a runaway But we were not born the enemy
and we will not stop for anything
So try to tell me all the things that I've done wrong
This fire will burn until we fall
So try to live with the things that you've done
and try to take all the things that I've loved
You won't break me, I will rise above
This fire will burn until we fall Run Run running I keep running I keep running away I keep running I keep running away Run run running I keep running I keep running away I keep on running away I keep on running...

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songarea.com/>