

Start Again

Sam Tsui

Baby, it breaks my heart that you don't smile anymore
I'm dying to help you heal but you won't unlock your door
You say it takes time, but you don't have to spend it alone

You're stuck in the memory that you desperately to rewind
You're too busy looking back, won't you make another try
Now your trust is gone, but you won't find it again on your own

So don't go telling me it's too late to start
You're still holding a broken heart
But if you let me in (let me in)
Baby, you can start again (start again)

And don't go telling me there's no second chance
You'll understand when you take my hand
Baby let me in (let me in)
I promise we will start again (start again)

Trying to get to you so I make this promises
I swear they are breakable, but you still just hearing hiss
I won't let you go 'til you decided you want to be free

You're haunted by yesterday and still sore from the fall
All you need is to whitewash this old walls
Paint something new, if you let yourself listen to me

So don't go telling me it's too late to start
You're still holding a broken heart
But if you let me in (let me in)
Baby, you can start again (start again)

And don't go telling me there's no second chance
You'll understand when you take my hand
Baby, let me in (let me in)
I promise we will start again (start again)

Don't give up yet, I won't let you close the curtain too soon
We can reset, you can take the leap and let me show you
You just gotta make the choice... yeah...

We love, we lose, and you think that the best defense is distance
You know, what now, put it on the mute so you can listen

But there's a way out of here, just follow my voice

So don't go telling me it's too late to start
You're still holding a broken heart
But if you let me in Yeah...

So don't go telling me it's too late to start
You're still holding a broken heart (a broken heart)
But if you let me in (let me in)
Baby, you can start again (Baby, you can start again)

And don't go telling me there's no second chance (you'll understand)
You'll understand when you take my hand (take my hand)
Baby, let me in (let me in)
I promise we will start again (I promise we will start again)

So don't go telling me it's too late to start
You're still holding a broken heart
But if you let me in (let me in)
Baby, you can start again

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songarea.com/>