

Saltwater Heart

Switchfoot

[Verse 1]

Talking with myself in the middle of a land-locked parking lot
Cough drop dripping from my mouth like a long shot
My writer's blocking oh oh oh
Sick of all the small talk, dripping non-stop
From the open-mouth graves of the faux hawk cinder block malls
My blood clot pen, oh oh oh

[Pre-Chorus 1]

Oh maybe I could break clean
Yea, maybe I could break clean

[Chorus]

We're on your shore again
I can feel the ocean
I can feel your open arms
That pure emotion
I'm finally free again
By my own explosion
We're on your shore again
I can feel the ocean

[Verse 2]

Saltwater running through my veins like a blind spot
Like I got caught, saltwater like your teardrop
With this saltwater heart oh oh oh
Now it's an abstract thought but I've been thinking non-stop
'bout the fact that my body's made most out of raindrops
With this saltwater heart oh oh oh

[Pre-Chorus 2]

Oh maybe I could wash clean
Yea,, maybe I could believe

[Chorus]

We're on your shore again
I can feel the ocean
I can feel your open arms
That pure emotion
I'm finally free again

By my own explosion
We're on your shore again
I can feel the ocean

[Bridge]

Maybe I could wash clean
Yea maybe I could wash clean
On my land-locked dreams
And maybe I could believe

[Chorus]

We're on your shore again
I can feel the ocean
I can feel your open arms
That pure emotion
I'm finally free again
By my own explosion
We're on your shore again
I can feel the ocean

I can feel the ocean

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songarea.com/>