

I Told You I Was Mean

Elle King

I lied to you
I never cried for you Swear that I tried to
But I have better things to do Now you're on the road with your painful load
And the words I spoke left your big heart broke And though you still bother because love is for the poor
So I left you knocking Outside my front door
You knew what this was
I don't want you anymore
I warned you before
I warned you before
That I could've sworn that I told you I was mean You were a sweet old thing
And I was lonely so I let you hold me
For a limited time
Only you see
You're nothing to me 'Cause I'll always be A bad bad seed
And though you still bother
because love is for the poor
I left you knocking outside my front door
You knew what this was
I don't want you anymore
I warned you before I warned you before Well I could've sworn that I told you I was mean dum di dah
I'm just a mean ol' thing'
dum di dah dum dum
Ain't no use to bother
Because love is for the poor
So cut out your knockin'
'Cause I will never come, I will never come to the door
You knew just what this was
And I don't want you forevermore
I warned you before, hey baby I warned you before, oh honey Well I could've sworn
I told you I was mean
dum di dah dum dum

dum di dah dum dum
