

Jamaica

Bobby Caldwell

When the world gets too much to carry
And when life becomes too bizarre
And my friends seem ordinary
As compared to the lost and far

No, I can't wait to see the city
Have a drink inside my favorite bar
So if you leave me, that's a pity
Maybe I'm better off by far

Oh, Jamaica, hold me
Come let your arms and hold me forever and ever
Someone told me love grows here in Jamaica
Leaving you how could I ever

As I ran for the ocean ferry
Well, I knew I had said my last goodbye
And now my life
As the stars fill the evening sky

Oh
Ohohohoho

Oh, Jamaica, hold me
Come let your arms and hold me forever and ever
Someone told me love grows here in Jamaica
Leaving you how could I ever

Oh, Jamaica, hold me
Come let your arms and hold me forever and ever
Someone told me love grows here in Jamaica
Leaving you how could I ever

Oh, Jamaica, hold me
Come let your arms and hold me forever and ever
Someone told me love grows here in Jamaica
Leaving you how could I ever
