Like a River Runs

Bleachers

I woke up thinking you were still here
My hands shaking with regret
I've held this dream for such a long long time
And I wanna get up

To the rhythm of a wild, to the rhythm of a wild heart
That beats, that beats like a rolling drumI saw you standing on the corner
I saw you standing on your own

And I get the feeling that it's, it's all a dream

And I wanna get up

To the rhythm of a wild, to the rhythm of a wild heart That beats, that beats like a drumWhen I fall asleep I can see your face

What I lost in you I will not replace

And I could run away, I could let them down

But I will remember your light

Your light it follows me in darkness

I'm trying hard but I can't win

And I've played the victim for a long long time

And I wanna grow up

From the rhythm a young, from the rhythm of a younger heart It leads just like a river runsThat night I sent over the parkway

The summer's gone and I'm alone

And I get the feeling that you're somewhere close

And I wanna get up

To the rhythm of your wild, to the rhythm of your wild heart It beats, been beating since you've goneWhen I fall asleep I can see your face What I lost in you I will not replace

And I could run away, I could let them down

But I will remember

When I fall asleep I can see your face

What I lost in you I will not replace

And I could run away, I could let them down

And I know you're gone but still I will remember your lightI will remember

I will remember

I will remember

I will rememberAnd if you see me in the darkness
I hope you know I'm not alone
I carry you with every breath I take
I won't let up, I won't let up
Until the wind is gone
