

Seasons Change

Corinne Bailey Rae

Oh oh oh... Maybe you've been pouring everything into this your mistake of this attends to agony, you contradict this when it comes to it,

You can't hide from me, but don't you surrender anything.

Don't you know that, that patience is a virtue (yes it is), and life is a waiting game... don't you know that, peace must be nurtured And all the money in the world can buy you nothing... (i tell you that)

All these things i've found, all these things i've done for a reason, don't you go on and through it all the way... when the seasons change (you gonna change)... Oh oh... Hurts me to see you feel this way but it won't be always, don't you know everything got to change, oh... feel like all your opens gone, you can't carry on, but there's nothing oh, you don't have to pretend with me, don't you know that, that patience is a virtue, (yes it is), and life is a waiting game, don't you know that, peace must be nurtured... All the money in the world can buy you nothing, (let me tell you that)...

All these things i've found, all these i've done for a reason... don't you go on through it all the way, when the seasons change

Oh oh oh...

When the seasons change

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songarea.com/>