

Leaking

Iris Lune

There's nothing I can give to you anymore
Just pack your things and go
When everything's a lie
There's nothing to hold on to
You can see it in my eyes, my dear
The weight has tired me
The weight of stones in my pockets have carried with you for many years
My love is leaking, oh
It's leaking
You say you're sorry for the times you did not see
That when everything's a lie
You need to cut to the chase and set us free
It's written on your face my dear
Your plans just pass us by
Now all that's left are souvenirs
A hand full of pebbles
A scent of an open sky
My love is leaking, oh
It's leaking
Sing a lullaby
The words slip through my mouth
Although I have to leave
Your arms are still against my back
Unravelling my wings
Now I know for sure that I will drown
For my love is leaking
Ohhh, leaking
My love is leaking, oh
It's leaking
