

The Truth

Nonpoint

If we only knew the truth about it
Maybe we could work our way around it
If we only knew the truth about it
Maybe we could work our way around it
Then maybe we could ignore that the shore
Used to be the edge
Explore more than I block from the next
Sitting over with nothing on my shoulders
But the clothes on our backs
And you leave us here with nothing
Expecting no attack
With soldiers on the way.
If we only knew the truth about what really goes on
Maybe all the things I do would make sense
Just for once.
Maybe we could work a way around it
If we only knew the truth about it. You think it's crazy
You think there's nothing to hide
Whenever there's a proposition for me to decide on There's a million suggestions
With a million intentions
With the people getting richer off the people getting poorer
It's due for peeking over
There's justice on the way.
If we only knew the truth about what really goes on,
Maybe all the things I do would make sense
Just for once
Maybe we could work our way around it
If we only knew the truth about it. If we only knew the truth about what really goes on,
What you said
Behind closed doors
(on my big lie)
If we only knew the truth about what really goes on
And what you say
Behind closed doors
(on my big lie)
If we only knew the truth about it.
If we only knew the truth about it.
More than just a lie or two about what Really goes on and what you said. More than just the right thing to do
The time has just passed us up instead.
Maybe we could work our way around it.

If we only knew the truth about it.
