

Love Lies

Bon Jovi

I was lost, then I found you
Never thought it would be this way
Showed you my heart, I left it unguarded
Like a thief in the night you stole it away Now you're gone
The pain goes on and on
And I still hear you whispering to me
Through the shadows of the night Love lies, you're just a victim of the headlines
You're running on into a cold night
You're just a number to the love lies All alone you call it survival
He lost at love to a stranger's lines
Walking the streets, he's searching with vengeance
For a face that he dreams of, night after night
Time goes on, all signs of life stolen
Simple dreams were all broken
Best of times become desperation
But how many tears must you cry to survive Love lies, you're just a victim of the headlines
You're running on into a cold night
Just a number to the love lies, love lies Love lies, you're just another victim of the headlines
You're running on into a cold night
Just a number to the love lies, love lies They met late one night in the city
Both men knew only one would stay
Scratched a picture of a heart on a bullet
And took his life away Love lies, you're just another victim of the headlines
You're running on into a cold night
Just a number to the love lies, love lies
Love lies, you're just a victim of the headlines
You're running on into a cold night
You're just a number to the love lies, love lies Love lies, headlines
You're running on into a cold night
You're just a number to the love lies
