

Damn You Seventeen

Lady Antebellum

[Verse 1]

I still smell the smoke, I still taste the Crown
I still feel the vinyl of the backseat
With the windows halfway down
Yeah, I still hear "Pour Some Sugar on Me" in the tape deck
With both of us singing along
And I still hear me saying, "Baby, not yet, not yet"

[Pre-Chorus]

We talk about our memory
Damn girl, you put a few on me, on me

[Chorus]

Life pulled out like a limo onto the highway after the prom
Time ran down like a scoreboard on the last Hail Mary bomb
And my heart's still stuck at a stoplight
With you sitting there next to me
And the red light won't turn green
Yeah, it won't turn green
Damn you, seventeen
Damn you, seventeen

[Verse 2]

I still smell your hair, I still taste the salt
Mixed with the cherry on your lips
Afraid your momma might come home
I still see all of your vintage rock and roll t-shirts
Hanging on your closet door
Back when we really didn't know what we were
Who we were

[Pre-Chorus]

We talk about our heartache
I'm still wearing out the replay, the replay

[Chorus]

Life pulled out like a limo onto the highway after the prom
Time ran down like a scoreboard on the last Hail Mary bomb
And my heart's still stuck at a stoplight
With you sitting there next to me

And the red light won't turn green
Yeah, it won't turn green
Damn you, seventeen
Damn you, seventeen

[Bridge]
Well, I wanna call
But I bet your number's changed a couple times
A couple towns ago, but I can't let you go

[Chorus]
Life pulled out like a limo onto the highway after the prom
Time ran down like a scoreboard on the last Hail Mary bomb
And my heart's still stuck at a stoplight
With you sitting there next to me
And the red light won't turn green
No, it won't turn green
Damn you, seventeen
Damn you, seventeen (Oh)

[Outro]
Damn you, seventeen
My heart's still stuck at a stoplight
With you sitting there next to me (Oh)
And I wanna call ya
Ooh, oh
Damn you, seventeen
Oh, whoa

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songarea.com/>