

Beautiful Strangers

Kevin Morby

If you ever hear that thunder, put your eye to the sky, boy, and wonder

Maybe there's a kingdom above the weather

Oh, and whether you're gonna get on in is up to you

If you ever hear that crying in the distance like some siren

Maybe there's a singer with no ring around their little finger, no love

And If I lose my voice

If I have no choice but to go quiet

Won't you sing for me a melody into the night there

Well, if I die too young, if the wolf he comes

Fee-fi-fo-fum

If I die too young, oh, if the locust come

Well then, run, run, run

Free

If you ever hear that gunshot, you may think 'bout what you do but you don't got

Say a prayer, think of mother, I am a rock

If you ever hear that sound now

If the door gets kicked in here, they come now

Think of others, be their cover

I am what they're not

Pray for Paris

They cannot scare us

Or stop the music

You got a sweet voice, child

Why don't you use it?

If I die too young, if the gunmen come, I'm full of love

So release me, every piece of me, up above

(Up above)

Love my mama and my papa

Love my sister, can't stand the coppers up in their choppers

Oh, flying overhead, forty-nine dead

Singing, oh, my Lord, come carry me home

Oh, my Lord, come carry me home

I'm singing oh, my God, oh, my Lord

Oh, my God, oh, my Lord

Oh, my God, oh, my Lord

Oh, my Lord

And if I die too young for something I ain't done

Carry my name every day

Oh, I'm sorry

Oh, I'm sorry

Freddie Gray

But sleep easy like baby Jesus in a manger

Oh, sleep easy like little Jesus, beautiful stranger

Oh, beautiful stranger

If I die too young, let all that I've done be remembered

And I'll sleep easy like baby Jesus in his manger

And I'll sleep easy like little Jesus, safe from danger

Carry onward like some songbird, beautiful stranger

Carry onward like some songbird, beautiful stranger

Oh, beautiful stranger
