

Give a Cowboy a Kiss

Cody Johnson

If you give a cowboy a horse and a stretch of fence, you can bet the farm he'll ride all day til the whole damn thing is fixed.

He'll come dragging back around along about supper time.

If you give a cowboy a truck on a Friday night, he'll bore a hundred dollar bill from the coffee can, spray the mud off of them tires, drop twenty dollars in the tank, save the rest for beer.

So all you girls in here need to know this.

If you give a cowboy a kiss he'll want more.

He's gonna want to give you a twist out on that hardwood floor.

If you let him, girl if you let him, he's gonna sit you down on his tailgate, pull out his guitar and play some George Strait.

Pretty baby, that's just the way it is, if you give a cowboy a kiss.

If you tell a cowboy he can't he'll prove he can.

Cause there really ain't nothing much that he can't do with his two hands.

He can fight his way out of corners, or he can softly lay you down.

There ain't no time like now to find out.

If you give a cowboy a kiss he'll want more.

He's gonna want to give you a twist out on that hardwood floor.

If you let him, girl if you let him, he's gonna sit you down on his tailgate, pull out his guitar and
play some George Strait.

Pretty baby, that's just the way it is, if you give a cowboy a kiss.

Hear the ocean wind, it'll take the shore.

If you take a chance on love tonight here's what's in store.

If you give a cowboy a kiss, if you give a cowboy a kiss he's gonna sit you down on his tailgate, pull out his guitar and play some George Strait.

Pretty baby, that's just the way it is, if you give a cowboy a kiss, if you give a cowboy a kiss.

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songarea.com/>